“ Grandma Florence was a feisty woman with the warmest of hearts. I remember her visiting us in Oklahoma when I was young, and how excited I was to have a grandmother that played Sega. Every time we visited with her, she was so full of life and laughter, sprinkled with just a dash of sarcasm to keep everyone on their toes. My mother, Rachel, admired her greatly and spoke highly of her when she told stories of her youth.

To my mother, my aunts, and my uncles. My heart goes out to you all. I send you all the love and compassion I can possibly give. Do not let your hearts be filled with dread, but rather joy in celebration of Florence's life, and the love she shared amongst her family. Take the love she bestowed on all of us, and spread it amongst the loved ones in your own lives.

I have met many of you, and some I have not, but please know that I love each and every one of you, and hope that you can continue spread the love and joy that Florence did in her time in this world.

“ To my Sister, love can be weak or strong, but for you it was always strong even tho we haven't see each on a Day to Day Basis, but that didn't stop from Loving each other as Siblings. You were always my Big Sister, that care much for others more about yourself. Your Heart was Bigger that any Mountain around and that's who you were. I will miss you so much. But sooner or later we will meet up with each other at one point in time. LOVE ya and Miss Ya

“ My grandmother was a vet strong women who raised her children and helped with her grandkids the best she could. She worked her butt off to support her children. Growing up with her was a blessing. She taught me how to cook and bake with my mother Sue. She always welcomed everyone to big feast for the holidays. My grandmother never took crap from no one! If she had a broom in her hand you better watch out cause she didn't play around. My relationship with her growing up was hard but I knew she loved me. We made our peace with each other years ago and built a beautiful relationship and that's hitting me hard knowing she is gone. Till we meet again Grandma, I love you!
