“ I worked with Jim for many years. He wasn't the easiest person to get to know but once you did he was a pretty good guy. He enjoyed travelling earlier in his life, his favorite place being Bali. He had two interests that never seemed to waver, motorcycles and cats. Loved them both. He also liked betting on the horses. His pet peeve, phone banks. He hated getting phone solicitations. Always interesting listening to his flowery remarks after he hung up. He had a bachelor's degree from Georgia Tech and a master's from FSU. The master's degree came in his late 60's. Not sure if that was for career advancement or just a personal goal. He had a number of medical problems in his later years and tried his best to cope with them. Changed his diet, quit smoking and drinking. Really tried to change things around. I give him a lot of credit for his determination. His attitude changed also, showing his friendlier and humorous side of himself much more. Farewell Jim.
