“ I only met her once. We were sitting in Stephanie's kitchen eating hummingbird cake, playing card games and listening to Drop Kick Murphy (my first time hearing them.) She made me feel like we had been friends for a long time.

I've always loved to bake but had never done anything more than buttercream from scratch. I was raving on the cake. She handwrote the recipe as a birthday present to me (along with a threat if I shared it with anyone lol). I now bake all the time, and pride myself on my from scratch goods. I only met her once but she made a huge impact. Her loss is felt in my heart.
