MY

“ I love you Kyle, I spent everyday making sure you knew that. I spent everyday telling you what an amazing person you were. I miss when we used to laugh and joke around. I miss holding you after every seizure you had. I'm blessed that I got to be in your life. I will always remember the day you asked me to marry you. My heart was filled with joy. You were there for me whenever I needed you even when you were going through things yourself. You helped me love myself and you and your love made me look at life different. You taught me so much. I got to hear your voice before God called you home. I got to say goodbye and that I love you and Ali. I even told you to give him a kiss for me not knowing I will never see you two again. You told me not to worry and not to cry because you will be okay. I wish I could've spent more time with you than I did in your last days. I know you're at peace now and I know you don't have to suffer anymore. I know you know that I love you, your son loves you, and your mom loves you more than anything. Rest Easy Puddin' , Until We Meet Again <3
