“ Nathaniel, it was a pleasure working with a genius! I admired your commitment to the job and appreciated your willingness to share technical knowledge associated with projects we worked on together. I also enjoyed our brief non-work related conversations. DOR has lost an invaluable resource and family member! Rest easy my friend!

My deepest condolences to Nathaniel's family and friends. I pray for comfort, peace, strength and understanding to you all during these trying times and hereafter. Cherish the memories and stay encouraged knowing that you have another angel watching over you.

“ I had the privilege of working with Nathaniel on plenty of projects, but it was always the conversation outside the meetings that stuck with me. His deep cut references to music and movies always made me smile, and I appreciated that he shared that part of himself. He was incredibly sharp, quick-witted and always there to help others. You will be missed.

“Nathaniel always amazed Pat and I. At 7, Nathaniel was a happy kid; honest to a T, full of integrity, and a joy to us as his parents. Nathaniel vocabulary at that time was above our heads though we both are college grads. We would look at each other and say "What did he just say?"

In every subject matter during his school years, Nathaniel was in the top of his class. At 14. Nathaniel built for his school science project from raw materials a working electric generator to power a light that, by flipping a couple switches, became an electric motor. On applying to the Navy. For a position on a Navy nuclear submariner, the recruiter told him there were no openings however gave him the qualifying test anyway. The next day, the recruiter called and said "How soon can you leave?"; Nathaniel had maxed out the test. During his time at the Navy's Nuclear Training Facility, Nathaniel received a commendation for being at the top of his Division.

During his time at the Navy's Nuclear Training Facility, Nathaniel acquired an auto-immune disease and received a medical discharge with a 60% disability. Nevertheless, Nathaniel bulled his way through to acquiring an education in computer programming, mostly on his own. He became an expert, a Guru, to his fellow co-workers. When asked how he was doing, his standard response was "Well enough"

We will miss him deeply.

“ Nathaniel is the best friend I've ever had and the closest thing to a brother I will ever get. He inspired me to keep going even in hard times. We spoke the same language, primarily in movies, music, games and "out there" facts. We met through work and quickly bonded, speaking almost every day, even if it was just to ask how we were doing and what was on the Playlist for the day. He became my comfort and my confidant, my partner in crime. He defended me when others tried to disparage me, which made me feel cared for. He was always there for anything I needed, even if it was just an ear for my sorrows or fears, never letting me think badly of myself. He's my quirky go-to comfort person, who always had a laugh to share. He changed my life for the better just by being his pure self. Fly high my friend 🍷
