“ I was blessed to work with Pauline for many years. She was an exceptional Customer Service Manager and an expert at calming irate customers. If Pauline couldn't calm them down and turn around their situation, I'm certain there is no one on this planet that could have. She had a way about her that I've never seen before or since. It was a joy to come to work every day knowing she was there! She was always positive and up for any task. Everyone at work knew her and loved working with her!

When the corporate world ended, I was beyond blessed to call her my very dear friend! Pauline always impressed me by what a kind, compassionate, thoughtful, loving person she was. I can't even count the number of times she went above and beyond to help others. I'm sure it says something when even dogs loved her - and she loved them! I consider myself blessed for the number of great times and laughs we had together and I am truly a better human for having known her. Her sweet potato yum yum casserole is now a standard at all of my families holidays so her legacy will live on for years in a small way by people that never had the privilege to know her. I am heartbroken that I will no longer hear her voice on our phone calls, share visits with her, or experience our infamous road trips, but I am grateful to know she is now reunited with her beloved son that she missed dearly.

Love you my friend! Rest well until we meet again.

“ Pauline (Polly) P. Sayre

Pauline was born on March 27, 1936, in Sandy, Florida. With her fun-loving spirit, she made friends everywhere she went.

After graduating high school in Brandon, Florida with the class in 1954, she was employed by GTE in Tampa, Florida, as a long-distance operator. She rose through the management ranks and retired as a manager from the Operator Services Training Department. She then took her training skills to Citicorp where she helped train employees in call center services in various places including India.

After retiring from Citicorp, Pauline moved to Donaldsonville, Georgia where she lived for over 17 years. In 2023, Pauline moved to Eden Springs in Crawfordville, Florida and resided there until her death. Pauline passed away following the loss of her husband, Robert Sayre; her son, Robert; and her subsequent life partner, Howard Smith. She leaves behind a large circle of loving family members and friends, too many to list, who continue to cherish her memory.

A private Celebration of Life for Pauline will be held at a later date.

The family of Pauline would like to extend a very special thank you to all of her caregivers, friends and other staff members for the excellent care that was provided to her during her stay at Eden Springs.
